Streetcar named melee

Spat between driver, rider leads to standoff between 50 passengers and TTC officials
Streetcars backed up at Bathurst station Situation resolved after police were called

A melee broke out on a crowded streetcar over a simple question.

"Why are you late?" a middle-aged woman, who didn't want to be named on advice from her lawyer, recalls asking a streetcar operator at Bathurst station around 5 p.m. Monday. "We've been waiting for almost 40 minutes now."

"I don't like your attitude and you are not getting into my car," she remembers the operator saying. After he left for a break, the woman hopped on. When he returned, he spotted her.

"There were many times I'd come home and say to myself I could have handled an incident better.... I'm not making excuses. But people must remember that we're human beings, too."
UNION PRESIDENT BOB KINNEAR, WHO DROVE TTC VEHICLES FOR 10 YEARS

"Then he yelled at me to get out of his car," she said. "But I said no, I have a subway pass and paid for my fare."

The operator then called his supervisor, following TTC protocol. Then it got ugly. One woman, known only as Shari, filmed part of the fracas, which Citytv obtained.

The supervisor noticed Shari's camera, marched up the stairs and placed his hand over it.

It isn't clear what happened next. Brad Ross, a TTC spokesperson, said the supervisor didn't take the camera, but pushed it down "in an attempt to defuse the situation." Then, Ross said, an elderly passenger grabbed the supervisor from behind in a bear hug.

"I didn't see a bear hug," the woman said. "The driver grabbed the camera and then another man grabbed his arm and took it away."

That's when a standoff began. Many of the passengers refused to disembark, but TTC officials weren't moving the streetcar, which created a convoy of streetcars behind it.

Crown wants adult sentence for accused cop killer

The prosecution served notice Thursday that it wants a teenager accused in the death of a police officer crushed by a minivan to be sentenced as an adult if he is eventually convicted.

The Crown's position was put to the court during a telephone call to the injured boy's hospital bed, where a first-degree murder charge had been previously read to him.

Ontario court Justice Ronald Minard asked Toronto lawyer David Berg, who was with the 15-year-old in the hospital, whether the accused could hear the proceedings.

"He can hear, but he cannot speak," Berg responded.

A key difference in adult sentencing would be the longer time to be served before being eligible for parole.

Under the Youth Criminal Justice Act, a first-degree conviction carries a maximum 10-year sentence — generally six years in custody and the remainder in the community under supervision.

If sentenced as an adult, the maximum sentence under the YCJA would be life without parole for 10 years.

The 32-year-old Garrett Styles died after he was pinned under a minivan police allege the accused was driving on a highway east of Newmarket.

Police said Styles was investigating the driver when the vehicle took off, dragging the officer about 300 metres, then rolling over and pinning him beneath it.

Toronto scientists first to isolate blood stem cells

- 1 in 3 million cells are blood stem cells
- Found by looking for unique proteins

In a study that will further cement this city's pioneer standing in the field, Toronto scientists have become the first in the world to isolate the stem cell for human blood.

The work out of the University Health Network will greatly increase researchers' abilities to study the blood-producing cells and will lead to better therapies for treating diseases like leukemia, the study's authors say.

Donated stem cells from matched donors are most often used to replenish the blood-producing bone marrow destroyed by chemotherapy in the treatment of leukemia patients. But those patients are currently being transfused with other marrow elements in addition to the life-saving stem cells, says John Dick, a senior scientist at the University Health Network's Ontario Cancer Institute and the study's senior author.

"We've never really had this stem cell in our hands before ... If you haven't had it in your hands before (you) actually don't know what makes it tick."
JOHN DICK, SENIOR SCIENTIST AT THE UNIVERSITY HEALTH NETWORK'S ONTARIO CANCER INSTITUTE

These non-stem cell components, he says, increase the risk of a rejection condition known as graft-versus-host disease, where immune cells lingering in the donated marrow attacks the recipient.

"By now going in and fishing out stem cells, we'll be able to transplant pure populations of cells for transplantation," Dick says. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

One man dead in Vaughan collision

One man is dead and five people have been taken to hospital after a tractor-trailer and car collided Thursday in Vaughan.

York Regional Police say the crash occurred shortly after 7:30 a.m. at the intersection of Weston Road and Highway 7.

Four people who were in the car were taken to hospital with serious injuries, including a man who was airlifted to St. Michael's Hospital in Toronto.

Man who posed as cop charged with robbery

A Kingston man is facing charges after a string of robberies was carried out by a phoney cop in downtown Toronto.

Officers say a man claiming to be an undercover officer stole wallets from elderly people over the past few weeks.

The man would accuse his victims of dealing drugs and then take their wallets.

Adrian McQuade, 62, is charged with 14 counts of robbery.

He was arrested after security video of a man was released to the public.

Swiss Chalet gunman gets 4 years in prison

Terrance McBurnie had criminal convictions in the GTA and Nova Scotia for impaired driving, obstruction of justice and public mischief

RENE JOHNSTON/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

▶ Toronto police take Terrance McBurnie into custody July 23, 2010, after a lengthy standoff at a Swiss Chalet.

Beer and bad nerves got the better of Terrance McBurnie as he ate a late lunch alone July 23, 2010, at the Swiss Chalet in the Kipling Queensway plaza.

After several trips to the washroom, he reached inside his coat and pulled out his pass to free chicken dinners for himself and the other diners: A sawed-off hunting rifle loaded with a clip that held 10 shots.

He also slipped a startled employee a note that read: "Get your customers out of the restaurant. I have a gun."

Shortly afterwards, McBurnie, 51, scribbled a second note and passed it to an employee who hadn't yet fled out the restaurant's back door.

It read: "I am sorry but no one cares for the little people."

McBurnie didn't appear particularly upset Thursday as Justice David Cole sentenced him to four years and nine months in prison in a Finch Avenue West courtroom for an assortment of robbery and weapons charges.

"Thank you, sir," McBurnie said, rubbing a small cross in one hand.

Before the judge passed his sentence, McBurnie appeared chipper as he declined to make a statement in front of the judge, saying simply, "No, I think I am fine, Judge Cole."

Court also heard McBurnie didn't fire any shots, take any hostages, attempt to hold anyone at gunpoint or rob any of the customers.

No friends or family were in court for McBurnie, a divorced, bankrupt former mechanic from Nova Scotia who was living out of his van when he visited the Swiss Chalet. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Couple chose not to follow shark fin soup tradition

"Dear Guest: We are replacing the traditional shark fin soup in a Chinese banquet with a lobster bisque. We are boycotting sharp fin soup because shark finning is a cruel practice and its effects are destroying the environment." Jay & Jo.

This simple but controversial message greeted each of Joanna Hui and Jason Kwok's 250 wedding guests last summer.

A copy had been placed atop every dinner plate in the banquet hall.

"We didn't want to hide the fact that we weren't having shark fin soup. We were being up front about it. The cards explained everything," said Hui, 32.

Across North America, cities and states are passing legislation to stop the sale of shark fin soup. It started in Hawaii, Guam and the Northern Mariana Islands. Washington State recently enacted a law. Legislation is pending in Oregon and California. And in the last few months, municipalities across Canada are taking up the cause.

TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

▶ Guests who attended the wedding of Joanna Hui & Jason Kwok last summer saw this card on the tables: An explanation of why they were passing on shark fin soup.

It all began with former Brantford MPP Phil Gillies, a Canadian representative with the environmental advocacy group WildAid. Gillies went around the country, speaking with provincial and municipal leaders about moving on legislation. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Banning the fin

- First In May, Brantford became the first Canadian municipality to outlaw shark fin.
- Sale Oakville council voted earlier this week to end its sale.
- Possible ban Both Mississauga and Toronto are eyeing a ban.
- Killed Each year more than 70 million sharks are killed, almost exclusively for their fins.

Traveller's spirit and Scotiabank support help Shanghai native start Canadian journey

As the operator of a Shanghai travel agency, Yuxiang Zhang had a love of travel that he put to the test when he decided to move to Canada. But when he faced worries about this colossal trip, he discovered how Scotiabank's multinational team and services can provide a smooth landing.

Mr. Zhang's personal journey began after he visited Becky, his only daughter, who had migrated to Canada in 1999. Seeing how she was enjoying her life in a friendly, multicultural country, he decided to become a family class immigrant.

"I was excited to join my daughter, but I was also unsure about the details, such as how would I move forward without speaking English?" says Mr. Zhang, who also wondered about practical issues such as the process to transfer money to a Canadian bank.

Fortunately, Becky convinced him to attend an immigration seminar in Shanghai, hosted by Scotiabank and The Cross-Cultural Community Services Association, where Bank officials answered every question, ranging from the Canadian job market to government services. He also learned about the Scotiabank StartRight® Program[1] for Newcomers, which includes a free day-to-day bank account for one year[2], a wide range of VISA* card options[3] and a number of other customized services and benefits.

"Before the seminar, I was very worried, but afterwards I felt relieved, and it gave me the courage to move forward," recounts Mr. Zhang, who arranged for his Canadian and U.S. dollar bank accounts with Scotiabank, and applied for a credit card, while still in Shanghai, through the Bank's partnership with China Everbright Bank.

After landing in Toronto in late 2009, Mr. Zhang went alone to the Scotiabank branch at the Steeles & Silverstar location to activate his accounts. Speaking only Mandarin and Russian, he wasn't sure how things would go. Luckily, he was greeted by Isa Ho, Branch Manager, and her multilingual staff. "Surprisingly, it went well, and my accounts and debit card were ready, and my VISA* card came within a week," marvels Mr. Zhang.

Isa, a Canadian immigrant who speaks both Cantonese and Mandarin, is well prepared to serve newcomers. She often calls them long distance before they move, to help them prepare. "I tell them about banking options and what are the best schools for their kids," says Isa, a 31-year veteran of Scotiabank, who still remembers seeing donuts for the first time when she arrived. "When they get here, we answer their questions about Canadian customs, and explain about banking in Canada. Also, since many newcomers want to buy a home, we educate them on Canadian mortgages and how to avoid credit mistakes."

Today, Mr. Zhang is enjoying life in Canada, studying English and preparing to start a tour business for both Chinese and Canadian travellers. During an upcoming visit to China, he will tell others about the opportunities in Canada and "the friendly, open and trustworthy service I experience at Scotiabank."

That's good news for Isa Ho who teaches her Scotiabank team to "Welcome every newcomer with a smile, speak their language, and serve them with our hearts."

Play takes audience on a cross-country search

The Fringe Festival's Here You Are focuses on a woman's search for her identity ◐ Director calls the dramatic comedy an 'emotional roller-coaster'

PHOEBE HO
TORONTO@METRONEWS.CA

In just 90 minutes you will have the chance to travel from Toronto to Prague, London and Florence — all on the set of Here You Are.

The dramatic comedy playing at the Fringe Festival takes the audience cross-country on a woman's search for her identity.

"I would say that it's a coming-of-age kind of story for all the characters," said playwright Natalia Goodwin. "They're all on a journey to become a whole person."

Here You Are centres on Sara, a woman laden with "baggage," as Goodwin puts it.

Determined to find her place in the world, Sara abruptly leaves her boyfriend for a trip to Europe. The play opens with her returning from Europe to face the consequences of her abrupt departure.

"It takes us through her journey of trying to restore her relationship with Danny and the relationships she has given up to go away to figure herself out," said Goodwin.

The play goes back and forth in time with flashbacks of Sara's journey in Europe, which director Cole Alvis says was a challenge to portray without confusing the audience.

"We tease Natalia by telling her we love the screenplay she wrote, where there are all these jump-cuts, something that's very easy to do on film," said Alvis. "So we've come up with some creative solutions for dividing up the stage in certain ways."

Although it touches on themes of depression and drug abuse, Alvis says the play also has some comedic moments and is a bit of an emotional roller-coaster.

"I think it sort of rides that line of getting the audience laughing and opening them up and then just sort of showing this raw but honest moment and I think it will be a bit of a ride that way," said Alvis. "There's kind of a bit of a spectrum of emotion for the audience."

Downtown parking prices a daily gamble

It's one of those mornings: You wake up and find the dog has chewed through your shoe, your kid barfs and the coffee machine is broken. "Forget the TTC," you think. "I'll just drive and park in the private lot beside work."

As you pull in, you see that little cardboard sign in the window of the operators booth. Normally, it says $10. Today you stare through your windshield at a bright red $25.

What the blazing asphalt?

Parking at Frank's Valet lot near George Brown College is $10 every day. Municipal parking at Dundas Square is always $19. But downtown lots in between can range from $10 to $25 depending on ... the weather? The operator's mood? Astral alignment?

"It's all supply and demand," says Hercules Modopoulos, president of TargetPark, which operates about 50 lots in Toronto.

At their lots on King Street, daily prices can range from $10 Mondays and Tuesdays, to $15 Wednesdays and Thursdays, to $20 over the weekend. But Modopoulos says those rates are stable from week to week.

"We don't change the rates from week to week or month to month. We don't play that game. Some of our competitors do," he says, adding some private operators near large venues often charge up to $40 for parking at major events. (Think parking near the Air Canada Centre during a Lady Gaga concert.)

Farzad Maghsoudi runs Frank's Valet lot on George Street, where daily parking is always $10.

"No different rates. It's always been like this," he says.

But at several of the 10 downtown lots the Toronto Star surveyed, prices ranged from $10 to $15 to $25 for the same lot, depending on the day or whether a special event was happening downtown. "I think they're taking advantage," Maghsoudi says.

Newest nation throwing a party

ROBERTO SCHMIDT/GETTY IMAGES

▶ South Sudanese dancers get in gear Thursday for a giant independence bash.

- South Sudan makes its debut
- Troubles are forgotten — for now

Welcome to the world.

The people of South Sudan split from the north and finally get their own country Saturday.

It will spark an emotional independence celebration few thought possible during a half-century of wars and oppression that left two million dead.

Military parades and celebrations will burst forth Saturday in front of dozens of visiting world leaders.

But when that party ends, South Sudan must face grim realities: It will be one of the most underdeveloped countries on the planet, only 15 per cent of its citizens can read, and fears of renewed conflict abound.

Paparazzi hotbed awaits William, Kate

More than a dozen years after Princess Diana's death on a Paris highway sparked an international backlash against the photographers who chased her, her son's visit to the paparazzi hotbed of Southern California has officials on high alert.

Prince William and bride Kate arrive Friday in a state that in the years since Diana's death has passed three laws to curb paparazzi abuses.

The most recent change raises the penalties for aggressive driving by paparazzi from mere infractions to misdemeanours punishable by up to six months in jail and a $2,500 fine.

The newlyweds are two of the world's hottest celebrities right now and

"If anybody is behaving inappropriately, we're going to take whatever legal police action we can to enforce the laws"
SGT. MITZI FIERRO

law enforcement officials who have hoped for a situation to test the new laws think they may get one when the perfect storm of British and Los Angeles celebrity photographers jockey for shots.

"We want to make sure everybody has a safe trip," said Los Angeles police Sgt. Mitzi Fierro.

Photo agencies expect shots of the newlyweds in L.A. to sell for anywhere from $25 to $1,000.

"Every move they make, everything she does, there will be 10,000 images," said Bauer-Griffin photo agency co-owner Frank Griffin.

"This will be a pretty good test of where we're at," said Mark Geragos, a celebrity attorney who has helped clients deal with aggressive photographers over the years.

Anthony to walk free next week

Found guilty of lying to police about working at theme park and about a non-existent nanny named 'Zanny'

Casey Anthony will be freed next week after spending nearly three years in jail on accusations she killed her two-year-old daughter, punctuating a case that captured Americans' attention and bitterly divided many over whether she got away with murder.

While cleared of charges of killing and abusing her daughter Caylee, Anthony was convicted of lying to investigators and sentenced Thursday to four years, the maximum punishment. But she was given credit for time she has already served and for good behaviour, and is set to be released next Wednesday. Judge Belvin Perry fined her $1,000 on each of the four counts.

The scene outside the courthouse highlighted the divide that has had social networking sites abuzz over the verdict.

Amid increased police presence, a throng of protesters gathered, holding signs that said "Arrest the Jury!!" Supporters included a man who held a sign asking Anthony to marry him. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SCOTLAND MURDER

Jury accepts teen thought victim was a zombie

A teenager from Canada who allegedly stabbed to death a 21-year-old man in Glasgow, Scotland, after hearing voices saying the man was a zombie has been found not guilty of murder by reason of insanity.

Scottish media reports say a jury at the High Court in Glasgow cleared 19-year-old Tianhui Zhan of murdering 21-year-old Michael Davis last October.

Davis had just finished work as a cleaner and was on his way to a second cleaning job when Zhan allegedly stabbed him three times. He underwent surgery but died from his injuries the next day.

According to reports, the court heard Zhan picked his victim at random because he believed Davis was a zombie who was going to attack him. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Activists flight plans put Israel on edge

Forces on alert ahead of arrival of pro-Palestinian activists Several people blocked from boarding flight in Paris, based on Israeli request, organizers say

Israel dispatched a beefed-up security force to its main international airport Thursday and asked foreign airlines to prevent blacklisted travellers from boarding Tel Aviv-bound flights, ahead of the anticipated arrival of hundreds of pro-Palestinian activists.

The activists, who say their mission is peaceful, have placed Israel in an awkward position: Authorities seem torn between their determination to keep out people they consider hostile agitators and a sense that they may be taking the bait en route to another public relations debacle.

By Thursday evening, eight people had been blocked from boarding one flight in Paris. Israeli airport officials said they expected most of the arrivals Friday.

Israel has experienced a series of deadly run-ins with pro-Palestinian activists over the past year, both on the high seas and along the frontiers with Lebanon and Syria. These clashes have drawn international criticism, and Israel appeared wary of being drawn into a new confrontation.

GETTY IMAGES

▶ Benjamin Netanyahu

It remained unclear how many activists would be allowed into Israel on their way to the West Bank. Officials said they are not trying to prevent the activists from visiting the Palestinian area, but are concerned about people with records of trouble or those who plan to participate in violent acts.

Several hundred extra police, including undercover officers, were deployed at the already heavily guarded airport. Authorities also forwarded to European airlines a list of several hundred people, considered by Israel as troublemakers, who should not be allowed to fly. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Destination Israel

- Roughly 600 activists are expected to arrive at Israel's Ben Gurion International Airport over the weekend.
- They say they are on a weeklong mission to express solidarity with the Palestinians and draw attention to life under Israeli occupation, including travel restrictions.
- Visitors can only reach the West Bank through Israeli-controlled crossings, either through international airports or the land border with Jordan.
- At any given time, hundreds of foreigners, including activists and aid workers, are in the West Bank.
- Most Palestinians are barred from entering Israel or using its airport, forced to travel to neighbouring Jordan to fly out.

The bus, filled with about 80 people returning from a wedding party, had stopped at the unmanned crossing after its axle broke. At least 35 people were killed and 39 others were injured. The bride and the groom were travelling in a separate vehicle and were not among the victims, local administrator Selva Kumar said. No passengers on the train were hurt.

Storms cast shadow on last shuttle launch

Thunderstorms threatened to delay the last NASA space shuttle launch, set for Friday, and a lightning strike near the pad prompted NASA to convene an engineering panel to discuss any possible damage.

Officials said early indications were that the shuttle and pad were fine but the weather outlook for Friday was dismal, with a 70 per cent "no-go" forecast.

NASA is closing out its 30-year space shuttle program to take aim at asteroids and Mars, destinations favoured by the White House.

Royals take time out at private lodge

Prince William and his wife Kate stepped out of the royal tour spotlight for about 24 hours, and reportedly spent their private time holed up at a backcountry lodge in Banff National Park, before a jam-packed schedule in Calgary.

Media reports put the couple at the idyllic Skoki Lodge, accessible only by an 11-kilometre hike from the Lake Louise ski area. The royals reportedly arrived by helicopter.

There is no electricity or running water, but it's unlikely William and Kate had to use the outhouse. Reports say a cabin was retrofitted especially for the royal couple, with a full bathroom flown in in two parts.

THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Kate effect

Royal newlywed's closely-watched fashion choices help fuel sales, buzz

The locales may change, but a familiar constant throughout Kate's Canadian tour was established well before it began: Keen-eyed style watchers anticipating which looks she would wear next, with retailers bracing for the inevitable spike in demand.

Kate set off a flurry of buzz before even leaving British soil by adding a touch of Canadian style to her wardrobe. The Duchess of Cambridge was seen wearing a navy one-button blazer from Toronto-based label Smythe, which she donned again for a visit to the fire-ravaged northern Alberta town of Slave Lake.

The phones immediately began ringing at luxury retailer Holt Renfrew, which carries the $550 blazer exclusively in Canada. The label's website crashed, said Smythe publicist Deb McCain.

The two other Canadian creations worn by Kate — lace dresses created by Montreal-born designer Erdem Moralioglu — have also generated interest. The dresses are both available for special order through the Bay's luxury retail space The Room.

A representative for the retailer said a number of associates have been asked about the dresses and whether the Bay will be carrying them.

But it's not just Kate's Canadian fashions that are making waves: A sleeveless crepe dress from U.K. company Joseph she wore in Levis, Que., and Charlottetown was another quick sellout.

James Fallon, editor of Women's Wear Daily, said it was common for public figures to be the subject of such scrutiny. "She's new, she's beautiful, going to be Queen of England one day ... so all of that, I think, is feeding into the attention."

Combat closure

Canadian soldiers formally end Afghanistan mission

Canada formally ended its combat role in Afghanistan Thursday, closing a mission that has cost 157 soldiers their lives since 2002.

The move adds to the burden of U.S. and Afghan troops, who are trying to prevent a Taliban rebound in the militants' southern stronghold where Canadian troops had been fighting in their bloodiest conflict since the Korean War.

Canada is the sixth largest troop-contributing nation, behind the U.S., Britain, Germany, France and Italy. Like Americans and Europeans, Canadians have grown weary of the war as it nears the 10-year mark.

As 2,850 Canadian soldiers head home, 950 others will train Afghan security forces to take the lead role in the country by 2014.

Canada passed the responsibility for two districts of Kandahar province to U.S. forces at Kandahar Airfield during a ceremony. Troops then held a moment of silence for their fallen comrades.

Since 2002, 157 Canadian troops, one diplomat, one journalist and two aid workers have been killed in Afghanistan. Canadians often line the overpasses of Highway 401 — known as the Highway of Heroes — to pay tribute to the fallen soldiers. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Scandal-hit British newspaper closing

News of the World staff, observers caught by surprise

JULIE JACOBSON/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ Rupert Murdoch, 80, and wife, Wendi, at a conference Thursday in Sun Valley, Idaho.

News International said Thursday it is shutting down the Rupert Murdoch-owned News of the World, the bestselling tabloid at the centre of Britain's phone hacking scandal.

James Murdoch, Rupert's son who heads the company's European operations, said the 168-year-old weekly newspaper would publish its last edition Sunday, without ads.

The abrupt decision to shut the newspaper follows an extraordinary three days in which multiple revelations about intrusive phone hacking cost the paper its advertising base and reader support.

A News International spokesperson denied rumours that The Sun, the News of The World's sister paper that publishes Monday through Saturday, would become a seven-day operation to pick up the slack. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

TAKING THE RELATIVE HIGH ROAD

THE METRO LIST

NEIL MORTON
METRO

1 Mother-in-law from hell. No, not my mother-in-law. She's great. I'm referring to the MIL who sent a scathing email gone viral to her future daughter-in-law insulting her for a lack of ladylike behaviour. Lesson learned: If your MIL sends you a nasty email, take the high road. Don't reply. Simply forward her email to a few friends and watch it go viral.

2 Jose Bautista. In an era of flamboyant star athletes, how refreshing is it that down-to-earth Blue Jay slugger Jose Bautista will not only be starting next Tuesday's all-star game, but also set a record for the most votes ever cast for a single player in Major League Baseball history: 7,454,753 votes.

3 The Twitter friends. Only in the social media age! Two women who met on Twitter, Megan and Beth, become real-life friends and begin a video series The Twitter Friends (thetwitterfriends.com). In every episode, they sit and chat about the neatest things they have discovered from tweeps. Check it out, then tweet about it.

"I'm referring to the (mother-in-law) who sent a scathing email gone viral to her future daughter-in-law insulting her for a lack of ladylike behaviour."

4 Kevin Bacon. Kevin (Six Degrees of Separation) Bacon turns 53 today. He has been around so long that his 1984 iconic film Footloose has been remade for release later this year. Don't worry Kevin, this news makes a lot of us feel ancient.

5 Brady and Lang in the morning. On your groggy morning commute, if a Timmy's double-double alone won't pick you up, turn the dial to Fan 590 radio where its morning team, Greg Brady and Jim Lang, bring it. Whatever Kool-Aid these Energizer bunnies drink before they gab about all things jock, I want some.

6 Will & Kate tour ends. Their rock star-esque nine-day, seven-city tour of Canada finishes today in Calgary. Next stop: Los Angeles. Where they will fit right in. Yes, Will-Kat are the next Brangelina, with enormous power to effect positive change.

7 Casey Anthony. She was found not guilty. And no O.J. jokes because they have all been done already. But, yes, a rather astonishing verdict to many. At the very least, as @piersmorgan tweeted after the verdict, "Not guilty of murder ... but still guilty of being a shockingly bad mother. #CaseyAnthony"

8 Hot dogging it. Joey Chestnut won the Nathan's Famous Fourth of July International Hot Dog Eating Contest at Coney Island, Brooklyn, N.Y., by consuming 62 hotdogs in 10 minutes. Now I don't feel so bad about pigging out on Canada Day.

Worth mentioning

BENGHAZI, Libya. Moammar Gadhafi is loved in Libya's rebel capital — as a subject for street artists to mock.

Caricatures of the Libyan leader dot walls and buildings across Benghazi in renderings that range from crude sketches to elaborate satire such as Gadhafi being knocked around by a rebel-flagged boot or depicted with a Nazi swastika.

Before Libya's uprising, even a hint of dissent risked a crushing response from Gadhafi's security forces. Now, it's open season on Gadhafi in rebel-held territory.

For some aspiring cartoonists — and others wanting to make their mark — this means getting out their spray paints and markers to display their opposition.

Rida, a 35-year-old barber and interior designer before the rebellion, makes dozens of Gadhafi sketches each day. Some have shown him in a trash can or with his clothes blown off by a U.S. jet fighter.

"I cannot fight with arms, but I can kill him with my pencil," said Rida.

WEIRD NEWS

Can you teach the same dog new tricks?

A dog that went missing seven years ago will be reunited with her original owner after living for all that time with another family in the same Arkansas town.

Andrew Navarette told animal control officers that he let his Shih Tzu, Mimi, out in the backyard of his Rogers, Ark., home seven years ago, but when he went to retrieve her she had disappeared, the Rogers Morning News reported Thursday. Navarette was unable to track Mimi down, even though she had a microchip containing his contact information.

Some time later, Kim Rafter of Rogers acquired the animal from someone in good faith, renamed her Gizmo, and has cared for her ever since. Meanwhile, Navarette relocated to Woodlake, Calif.

Last Saturday, Mimi showed up at an animal shelter in Rogers where officials found the chip and called Navarette, who had kept the same cellphone number. Assistant shelter manager Matt Colston said Navarette was excited Mimi had been found and said he would pay for the Shih Tzu to be shipped to his home in California. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Plot synopsis

- The bosses in this movie make Genghis Khan look like an equal opportunity employer. Jason Bateman works for corporate shark Kevin Spacey. Jason Sudeikis has coke-head Colin Farrell and his comb-over. Charlie Day works for Jennifer Aniston, a dentist who uses laughing gas as a sex toy. All are stuck in their jobs and fed up with the daily humiliation offered in their workplaces and decide to terminate their bosses — literally.

Bosses delivers the goods

Richard Crouse and Phil Brown agree the premise of Horrible Bosses is a bit tired ◐ Despite that, it's a funny movie that induces pants-wetting laughs

Movie writer Phil Brown is sitting in for Mark Breslin this week.

Richard Crouse: Phil, of course no reasonable person would break into their bosses home looking for ways to kill them, but this is a comedy so we'll accept that. Or will we? I thought the movie started off strong, funny and well paced, but its central premise — let's kill our bosses! — seems forced and it sucks some of the funny from the middle part of the movie. What did you think?

Phil Brown: Richard, I've got to go the other way. The premise of having a terrible boss that makes your life hell is sadly all too relatable for many, but the opening bad boss gags felt tired even with the R-rated facelift. It didn't click for me until the murder element turned the movie into a live action cartoon with a sick sense of humour.

RC: Interesting, I felt as though I was watching a funny enough movie marred by a silly premise. It's one thing to have some drinks and joke about killing your boss, it's quite another to act on it. I don't want to beleaguer this point, but the crucial set-up scene to me felt forced, like a weak lead in to a funny punch line. Having said that, Charlie Day made me laugh. A lot.

PB: The whole premise is old and they even name-dropped two movies that did it better (Strangers On A Train and Throw Mamma From The Train). I think we can both agree that things really got rolling in the second half when it deviated from that form. Charlie Day definitely induces pants-wetting laughter consistently and I think the cast made this movie work through an improvisation festival. The only problem is that comedy style kills narrative momentum and there was no real tension in the thriller aspect of the story. Though I suppose the laughs are more important.

RC: And there are plenty of laughs. I don't want to be Debbie Downer here. The movie is funny. It was cool to see Kevin Spacey revive his character Buddy from Swimming with Sharks, and if this doesn't wipe away any traces of Rachel left over from Jennifer Aniston's TV work I don't know what will. Now, I guess, she's America's Foul Mouthed Over Sexed Sweetheart.

PB: In my mind, she always will be. Despite the inconsistencies, Horrible Bosses delivers the goods and will always be the only movie featuring Colin Farrell doing a coked-up Michael Keaton impression with a comb-over.

The website Funny Or Die debuted a Field of Dreams sequel Wednesday. Twilight star Taylor Lautner plays the equivalent of Kevin Costner in a mock movie trailer that quickly drew more than 150,000 views. The video, Field of Dreams 2: Lockout, is a riff on the NFL labour negotiations.

Singing in the blood: A musical parody of The Silence of the Lambs to debut off Broadway

Twilight director makes indie flick

NED EHRBAR
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Chris Weitz, the man behind American Pie and the Twilight saga, is the first to admit that he isn't the obvious choice to direct A Better Life, about an illegal immigrant in Los Angeles struggling to provide for his teenage son in East L.A. But thanks to immense research, a genuine love for the material and lots of help from his Homeboy Industries youth- and gang-outreach program, Weitz has created a moving, authentic film. He spoke with Metro about some of the struggles he faced bringing the story to the screen.

Did you face resistance taking on this story, since you're not from that community?

My grandmother is Mexican, my mother speaks fluent Spanish, so it was an opportunity to regain some part of my heritage that I had lost. On websites, in the comment section, there's occasionally a snarky comment about me being lily-white. But in some ways it's true. I mean, I did grow up kind of as an anglo. It gives me an outsider's eye to some degree, which makes me all the more keen on representing things fairly.

Did you get any flack from the locals while filming in East L.A.?

Everyone was incredibly welcoming and excited, especially the kids. But there was one lady who was just not happy that we were there because she had seen one of our extras — who was a guy from Homeboy Industries, an ex-gang member — and he had one of those tracker bracelets. And she immediately assumed — and I can't say that I blame her — that we were shooting some kind of episode of CSI or something where we were going to portray the barrio as this kind of terrible place where drug deals went down all the time, and she really didn't like it. I tried to talk to her, and she said, "Well, I'll wait until it comes out."

How was the response from the East L.A. community after seeing the film?

It felt incredible. I had a little experience like that before when we test-screened About a Boy in front of an audience in London and they said it's a good little British film. And I thought, "Fantastic, we fooled them." In this case, when we showed it to an Hispanic audience in South Gate for a test-screening, it scored as high as I've ever scored. More than that, the discussion afterwards was very, very touching. People are kind of astonished that this story has been told, because why would anyone do that? Where's the money in it? It's a question I ask myself sometimes — where's the money in it?

A Pooh for a new century

Disney gives Winnie the Pooh a more contemporary feel, yet stays true to the classic charm of the original

RICHARD CROUSE
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Winnie the Pooh has Canadian roots. The beloved A.A. Milne creation, a potbellied bear with a taste for "hunny," was based on a real-life Canadian black bear that lived at the London Zoo.

Brought to the zoo by Lieutenant Harry Colebourn during the First World War, the bear was named Winnie after the soldier's hometown of Winnipeg.

It's fitting, then, that the new Disney Winnie the Pooh movie had many Canadians help bring it to the screen.

"It's like winning the lottery having worked here," says Alberta native Brian Ferguson of his 21 years working at the House of Mouse.

His first job after joining the company was animating the company's mascot in Mickey Mouse's Prince and the Pauper. "It's such a simple design," he says, "but if you get a pencil thickness off in the proportions, it looks wrong." That's a lesson he took with him when drawing the classic characters in Winnie the Pooh.

"The people who did the first Winnie the Poohs were masters and the stuff they did then, wow," he says. "Even as an experienced animator I look at it and go, 'Oh my goodness, I wouldn't have thought of that.' It's subtle little things that make a character be just a little away from normal. It's the subtle difference between, 'I would never have done it that way,' to 'I would never have thought to do it that way.'"

Nik Ranieri, a Torontonian with 23 years at the studio, adds that while the classic look of Winnie the Pooh has been maintained in the movie, efforts have been made to update the feel of the film.

"When I watch the film there are some things in there I don't think you'd see in the old ones," he says. "Look at the character of Rabbit. Some of those poses and expressions are a little more manic, but it doesn't take away from the charm of the original. It just adds a little bit of contemporary feel to it."

HANDOUT

▶ Disney's Winnie the Pooh

For Vancouverite Clio Change, Winnie the Pooh marks a landmark — it's her first Disney film. "I think I was four when I told my dad I wanted to work here," she says. "He said, 'OK, you can sell Coke in the parks in a mouse suit.' Luckily it was animation instead."

When I ask her if all the Disney Canucks have their own table in the cafeteria she nods and laughs, "We eat maple cookies and drink syrup."

With the final Harry Potter movie hitting theatres next week, Metro takes a look at life after a decade of Hogwarts

A Potter post-mortem

COURTESY WARNER BROS

▶ Wands out one last time: Daniel Radcliffe in a scene from Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows: Part 2.

What's next for the Potter stars?

Daniel Radcliffe (Harry)
Currently singing and dancing in the Broadway musical How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying, the 21-year-old earned rave reviews, even if the production itself didn't. People want to like him and he wants to be liked. Chances of future success: 4 out of 5 wands

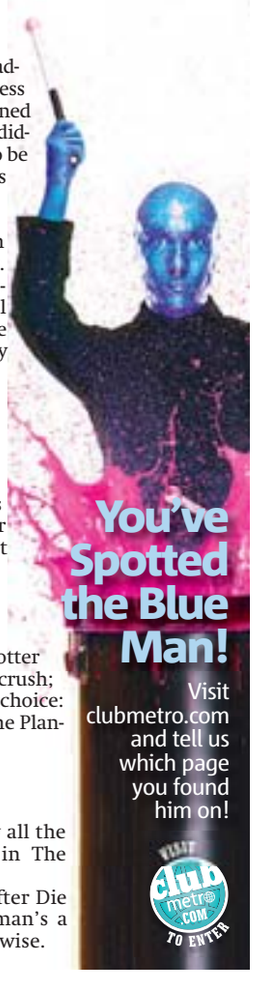
Emma Watson (Hermione)
Already a fashion magazine staple, Watson has left the genre ghetto for trendy indies. She's just finished filming The Perks of Being a Wallflower, a comedy co-starring Paul Rudd. Sadly, she won't have a college degree to fall back on — Watson left Brown University last fall before graduating.
Chances of success: 5 out of 5 wands

Rupert Grint (Ron)
Is he ambitious, or just a stoner? Either way, Ron will continue to do what he did in between Potters: make likeable movies that no one will see, including the war drama Comrade and Eddie the Eagle, about the U.K.'s first Olympic ski jumper.
Chances of success: 3 out of 5 wands

Tom Felton (Draco)
He can die saying he starred in Harry Potter and was Emma Watson's first on-set crush; what more does Felton need to do? His choice: Getting attacked by primates in Ride of the Planet of the Apes, out this August.
Chances of success: 2 out of 5 wands

Alan Rickman (Snape)
He's always chasing Harry Potter — now all the way to Broadway. Rickman will star in The Seminar, a new play, this fall.
Chances of success: How dare you ask? After Die Hard, Potter and countless plays, the man's a legend. Plus, we're too scared to say otherwise.

SAM CASTONE



What's the next big series?

The Hunger Games
Premise: Every year, one boy and one girl must fight to the death in a televised event, brought to you by the Capitol, the evil government in charge of the land of Panem.
The movies: The first is filming now. Jennifer Lawrence, Oscar-nominee, will play our hero, Katniss Everdeen.
Chances of it taking off: High. It's not corny, but clever.

Snow White and the Huntsman
Premise: Inspired by Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, the plot finds our heroine cast out by a wicked witch, and ordered to die at the hands of a hunter. Then she meets midgets. It's the first of a planned series.
The movies: Kristen Stewart leaves one franchise for another, playing a tough version of Snow White.
Chances of it taking off: Fair. Do young audiences really care about classic fairy tales?

Percy Jackson and the Olympians
Premise: A kid discovers his dad is the Greek god Poseidon — and mythological creatures are on the attack. Rick Riordan's series has five books so far.
The movies: The first — subtitled The Lightning Thief and directed by Potter vet Chris Columbus — was released last year. The second is in the planning stages.
Chances of it taking off: Despite a lack of buzz, the first film made more than $200 million worldwide.

The Hobbit
Premise: The prequel to Lord of the Rings finds Bilbo Baggins battling orcs and spiders to save a kingdom.
The movies: Director Peter Jackson is back. Ian McKellan is back. Orlando Bloom is back. Gollum is back. And The Office star Martin Freeman stars.
Chances of it taking off: Men are weak. The Blood of Numenor is all but spent. But this movie will be a massive success. SAM CASTONE

We take a stab at writing book 8

Several years after the fall of Voldemort — and the flight of the remaining Death Eaters to Brazil — newly Certified Public Accountant Harold J. Potter has finally started to settle down into a normal, almost Muggle-ish life.

He and his new bride Ginny Weasley, flush with excitement over the birth of their first son James Sirius Potter, now battled nothing more sinister than the occasional dirty, levitating diaper.

It seemed as though peace and contentment had finally come to Harold and his friends.

That is until, one day, Harold was sent on a business trip to the Ministry of Magic.

There he was informed that, through a complicated series of risky dragon scale default swaps and unregulated wand sales to non-magical beings, the very economic foundation of their magical world was in jeopardy.

And worse, it was revealed to Harold that the new Minister of Magic — Harold's old Quidditch teammate Oliver Wood — had just been found brutally murdered in a Slytherin dormitory at Hogwarts.

Upon hearing the news, Harold's thoughts immediately turned to Voldemort, the only being capable of such effortless cruelty.

But then the terrified Ministers told Harold the name that had been scratched into the skin of poor Oliver, and Harold knew that he faced a new enemy.

The name scratched into Wood's body, the ministers told Harry, was...Mrs. Norris. DREW TOAL

Zookeeper
Genre: Comedy
Director: Frank Coraci
Stars: Kevin James, Rosario Dawson

Kevin James wanted to make a family movie — one that would be stupendously inoffensive. He has managed to do that with talking animals in way — amazingly — that isn't actually as boneheaded as the premise sounds. As a man passionate about his zookeeping job, James' character gets advice from his talking animals (voiced by the likes of Nick Nolte and Cher) on how to win back an ex. It's goofy, obvious, contrived and corny (there is a trip to TGI Friday's with a dancing gorilla, after all), but the humour is silly enough to amuse kids without resorting to toilet humour or sleaze for the adults. With this box of chocolates, you know exactly what you're going to get, and that isn't necessarily a bad thing.

HEIDI PATALANO

The Tree
Genre: Drama
Director: Julie Bertuccelli
Stars: Charlotte Gainsbourg, Morgana Davies

After the unexpected death of their father, a family begins to imagine the giant fig tree hanging precariously over their Australian house is carrying his spirit. Genuine performances from French star Charlotte Gainsbourg and promising youngster Morgana Davies boost an earnest, heartfelt script that may lose some in its simplicity.

Cave of Forgotten Dreams
Genre: Documentary
Director: Werner Herzog
Stars: Werner Herzog, Dominique Baffier, Jean Clottes
●●●½

Another hypnotically eerie documentary from Werner Herzog, complete with the director's signature narration that alternates from philosophical inquiry to sardonic jabs. His subject is the Chauvet cave, which boasts the oldest known cave paintings and sealed off to all but a few scientists for fear of contamination. Herzog films in 3D, allowing audiences to see how the ancient paintings interact with the jagged walls. The imagery is remarkable and though he seems to run out of material about an hour in, he pads the running time with spear-throwing lessons and footage of albino crocodiles. ● PHIL BROWN

Page One: Inside the New York Times
Genre: Documentary
Director: Andrew Rossi
●●●

This documentary spends much time trumpeting the New York Times's storied past and making predictions for its uncertain future. What it doesn't cover as well is the here and now. A portrait of a business deeply wounded by online news sources and an exodus of advertisers, it shows us an American tradition in flux. Luckily for them and for us, the New York Times may have no feistier proponent than David Carr, the central figure of the film. The passion the grizzled writer shows for the paper and its place in the history of journalism elevates the doc from infotainment puff piece to compelling argument for the survival of the analogue newspaper. ● RICHARD CROUSE

Great Sex

Happiness for couples is a satisfying sex life.

Eroxil™ helps most men to perform like in their 20's. Evidence of a few hundred testimonials on our web site with full names and towns. All 100% true:

■ Eroxil is the best of all the supplements for men I've tried. Boosts my sex drive and I'm able to function anytime. Angus Gutke, 45, Calgary, AB ■ Regained virility in 3 days. My libido was restored for good sex. I've given it also to friends with the same results. One of them is a diabetic and overweight. Dr. Louis Rolland, 72, St. Hyacinthe, QC ■ Having orgasms off the Richter scale. It's like I'm a teenager again. The world owes you big time. Lawrie Roberts, 47, Toronto, ON ■ Wonderful to feel like a man again. It's wonderful to feel close to my wife again. God bless you! Charles E. Palen, 77, Burnaby, BC. TRUE EVIDENCE that we are helping people.

Erosyn™ is the only product that helps most women to restore libido, desire and the ability to climax. There is no drug or natural product like it.

Evidence from our web site: ■ Erosyn saved my marriage. I'm overjoyed! My libido is back. Words cannot describe how grateful I am. Carla Daunais, 32, St-Hubert, QC ■ I've been married for 13 years and never experienced climaxes in the last 12 years - untill I took Erosyn. New sex life is exciting! What a miracle! Jeane Adams, 37, American Fork, UT ■ My sexual desire is greater now than it was for 30 years. It's wonderful to have such ecstatic joy. I've tried others that didn't work. Eve Jameson, 58, Kingman, AZ ■ I'm 92 and sex is good again. Regained intimacy makes life more interesting. Florence Fryer, Edmonton, AB All true experiences from real people.

ARTHRITIS

Pain free in 2 weeks!

This is what happened to me personally. After suffering for years I desperately tried everything, drugs, natural products,physiotherapy, acupuncture, magnets and nothing was of any real help. Finally I had relief in 2 weeks by taking shark cartilage that was specially processed to preserve the natural active ingredients. This is the kind we are now promoting. I realized then that there are over 50 million men and women that are battling the same illness and getting treatments that are not working well, otherwise we would not have this ongoing huge health problem. In the last 10 years we have helped tens of thousands of men and women to have less pain or no pain at all. This is a by-product of the food industry. No sharks are caught because of their bones/cartilage. Nick A. Jerch, President

#1

We have real EVIDENCE that it works. On our web site you find over 100's of testimonials with full names and towns. All 100% true. Skeptics may call them. Here are some examples: ■ Doctor suggested knee replacement after all his options failed with drugs and cortisone shots in knee and lower back. I recommend Bell Shark Cartilage to those millions suffering needlessly like I did for 40 years with arthritis in my knees. It's a shame that I was given drugs and injections all these years when a natural medicine could have spared me the endless torture day and night. Pat Laughlin, Coldwater, ON ■ My hip is 95% pain free. Pain killing drugs mask and Bell Shark Cartilage heals. Rebecca Hite, Oroville, CA ■ I tried another brand and pain came back. 2 weeks on Bell and pain is gone again. Gert Dupuis, Hanmer, ON ■ Cancelled knee replacement. I was in pain and limping. Have no more pain now. Can square dance for hours. Anton Melnychuk, Porcupine Plain, SK. ■ For 32 years I cried barrels of tears. Was in and out of hospitals costing society tens of thousands of dollars. I have taken many thousands of pills that nearly killed me. Finally 3 bottles of Bell Shark Cartilage costing less than $100 stopped a lifetime of suffering without side effects. Eleanor Sauson, Shigawake, QC ■ Others write: Can walk again for hours…Climb stairs without hanging on to railing…First time in 15 years can sleep at night…Rheumatoid pain in joints down 90%, same for my sister. All products guaranteed to work.

Other Bell products for relief of the following chronic ailments

Talking points

Who will be the next star of Transformers?

OR WHO ELSE WILL HAVE THEIR CAREER RUINED BY MICHAEL BAY? The third Transformers has made almost $200 million worldwide, so you know there will be a fourth.

But who will star, now that Shia LaBeouf has moved on?

The Internet says: Jason Statham, star of the Transporter films.

After Showbiz Spy reported the rumor, other sites speculated it may be true, partly because he's dating Transformers 3 star Rosie Huntington-Whiteley. METRO

No special treatment for Willie Nelson

JUST SAY NO. A judge has rejected a plea deal that would have resolved Willie Nelson's marijuana possession case in West Texas with a fine, saying the country singer shouldn't get what she considers special treatment.

Nelson was arrested in November after a Border Patrol agent said six ounces of marijuana were found on Nelson's tour bus.

Hudspeth County Judge Becky Dean-Walker told The Associated Press on Wednesday that she rejected prosecutor Kit Bramblett's suggestion that Nelson resolve the case by pleading guilty and paying a $500 fine for possession of drug paraphernalia.

Dean-Walker claims the prosecutor "doesn't do that for anybody else."

The judge says Nelson should be charged with the misdemeanour marijuana possession, which carries up to a year in jail.

Bramblett didn't return a call Wednesday.

Nelson's publicist declined comment. METRO

Dourdan busted for drugs

CSI star Gary Dourdan was killed off that hit series and later arrested for drug possession in 2008.

Now he's in trouble again. After smashing into several parked cars back in June, the cops arrested him for — guess? — drug possession yet again, according to TMZ, which has now identified the drug: OxyContin, the painkiller known as "hillbilly heroin" because it's popular in the American south.

Police did not indicate how much jail time he would be looking at. METRO

A beautiful combination

PETER ROCKWELL
LIQUIDASSETS@EASTLINK.CA
TWITTER: @THEREALWINEGUY

Combining wine with anything but an empty glass has been called a lot of things — and not all of them pretty.

It's never bothered the Spanish. Their popular red wine-based, Mediterranean-mixer sangria has endured.

You can make your own version using an inexpensive Spanish red or a value-priced, fruit-forward alternative like Hungary's non-vintage Hungarovin Szekszárdi Vörös Kékfrankos ($9.68 - $12.79). Here's my basic recipe:

- 750 ml chilled red wine
- 50 ml brandy
- 50 ml orange liqueur
- 250 ml lemonade
- 250 ml raspberries
- 1 orange (sliced
- 1 lemon (sliced)
- 1 green apple (sliced)
- sugar to taste
- soda water (optional)

Combine fruit, brandy, orange liqueur and sugar in a glass pitcher. Refrigerate for an hour. To serve: Stir in chilled wine and lemonade. Adding a touch of soda water will cause a slight spritz.

Camp cuisine with a hint of gourmet

Mike Faverman and Pat Mac's Ultimate Camp Cooking proves roughing it doesn't have to mean burnt hot dogs and trail mix This Chicken Cordon Bleu can be made in less time than it takes to put up a tent

People are increasingly choosing budget-friendly camping trips over expensive vacations. But you don't have to sacrifice good eats with that small budget. Ultimate Camp Cooking boasts 80 fast, easy and delicious recipes.

MARC KALLWEIT

▶ This recipe makes four to six servings.

MIKE FAVERMAN (ANDREWS MCMEEL PUBLISHING, 2011)

Preparation:

1. If chicken breasts are thicker than 1/2 inch, pound thinner. Place one slice of cheese and one slice of ham on each breast, leaving 1/2 inch of space around edges. Fold edges of the chicken over filling and secure with toothpicks. Mix flour and paprika in a small bowl and use to coat chicken pieces.

2. Heat butter in large skillet over medium-high heat and cook chicken until browned on all sides. Add wine and bouillon. Reduce heat to low, cover and simmer for 30 minutes, until chicken is no longer pink and juices run clear.

3. Remove toothpicks and transfer to warm platter. Blend cornstarch with cream in bowl and whisk slowly into skillet. Cook, stirring, until thickened, 5 to 7 minutes. Pour over chicken and serve warm. FROM ULTIMATE CAMP COOKING BY PAT MAC AND

Ingredients:

- 6 boneless skinless chicken breast halves (2 to 3 pounds)
- 6 slices Swiss cheese
- 6 slices ham (lunch meat)
- 3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- 6 tablespoons unsalted butter
- 1/2 cup white wine
- 1 teaspoon chicken bouillon granules
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 cup heavy whipping cream

Boys' Night Out - July 14
Gents, this one's all you: Boys' Night Out is an annual fundraiser where sophisticated guys leave the ladies at home for an evening of the finer things life has to offer, like exceptional wine, smooth-as-gold whiskey, cigars, hot cars, thick steaks, oysters, music, live entertainment, and the list goes on. It gets better: proceeds from Boys Night Out go supporting prostate cancer research.

JOEY Eaton Centre
The second Toronto location of JOEY Restaurants opened their doors to the public on Monday, and if you haven't heard the buzz yet, that's why we're here. The best part is the location: centrally-located at the northern foot of the Eaton Centre. Cocktails and cuisine après work just got a whole lot cooler, and JOEY will definitely satisfy your palette and surpass your service expectations.

La Société Bistro
This Paris-in-Toronto resto on Bloor Street just east of Avenue Road opened a couple short ago, and has already had a huge impact on Toronto's food scene. Patrick looking for T.O. breakthrough

Circuit's poster girl looking for second IndyCar Series win this weekend

STEVE RUSSELL/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

▶ Danica Patrick drives her team through Turn 1 Thursday in preparation for the Honda Indy Toronto.

Danica Patrick would rather not hear about racing in the shadow of her team owner at the Honda Indy Toronto.

She doesn't want to know about Michael Andretti's seven wins on the road course around Exhibition Place, where she has yet to crack the podium.

"Good for him," said Patrick, who will be looking to improve upon her two career sixth-place finishes in this event. "Obviously, he hasn't translated it into seven wins for me ... Everybody's a different driver and everybody prefers different things in their car. It's a different team, different resources, it's a different time."

"I think just because Michael's won here a bunch doesn't mean (the team's) going to win here a bunch."

DANICA PATRICK ON HER TEAM OWNER MICHAEL ANDRETTI'S STELLAR RECORD IN TORONTO

Expectations will always be high for Patrick, who is the face of the IZOD IndyCar Series despite having just one career circuit win.

In Patrick's first attempt on the road course, she started 18th and moved up 12 spots. Last year, she started 12th before improving six places at the finish line.

Her sarcastic answer to breaking the sixth-place barrier was to "finish one better."

The actual answer has more to do with Patrick's performance in Saturday's qualifying, which she describes as a weakness even after a second-place start at Iowa last week.

She says a good starting position on the race grid will give her a better chance to win.

"Qualifying, I think, is the biggest point," she said, "and then beyond that, obviously, when you improve by a thousand or so positions in the race, obviously, you're doing something right in the race so I just need to qualify higher."

With points leader Dario Franchitti and defending Toronto champion Will Power engaged in what appears to be a two-horse race for the series' title, Patrick and her team will be focusing on individual performances as the second half of the season begins. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Biggs says farewell to Leafs — for now

Goodbye Tyler Biggs. See you next year.

There will be some top-notch Leaf prospects at September's rookie camp and the main camp that follows, but the Leafs' top draft pick from this summer won't be one of them.

Biggs insists he is heading to Miami (Ohio) University and, for that reason, he can't risk his NCAA amateur eligibility by mixing with professionals.

So the prospects camp this week — which wound up Thursday — was his one and only chance to get to meet some of his future teammates and impress the brass.

"It was fun," said the centre who was chosen 22nd overall. "It was a good experience. I've learned how intense it is. You have to bring that intensity 24-7."

As much as it was a chance for general manager Brian Burke and company to see what Biggs and others could do, it was also a chance for Biggs to measure himself against mostly older, more experienced players.

"I definitely have my work cut out for me," said Biggs. "It was the best of the best you were playing against. You've got to be bigger, stronger, faster. You've got to be ready for it.

"I had a great time; I can't wait to come back next year."

The Oshawa Generals own Biggs' OHL rights, but he is focused on university and trying out for the U.S. under-20 world junior team.

Glenn's gabbing gaffe and thoughts heading into Week 2

CFL EXTRA POINTS

DAN TOTH
OTTAWA@METRONEWS.CA

Hamilton quarterback Kevin Glenn should take a lesson from Casey Printers, a former MVP whose big mouth and attitude had him punted from the Canadian Football League.

Going public with his displeasure after being pulled out of Hamilton's season-opening loss to the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Glenn said, "It just felt like a smack in the face."

"It was Printers who overreacted in a similar situation with the B.C. Lions two seasons ago. He was released and the former MVP hasn't been seen since."

It was Printers who overreacted in a similar situation with the B.C. Lions two seasons ago. He was released and the former MVP hasn't been seen since.

Quarterbacks are supposed to be team leaders, especially when everything goes wrong.

How they react to adversity is just one of the many ways they are evaluated.

Glenn was pulled in favour of backup Quinton Porter with the Tiger-Cats down by four points after the Hamilton starter threw his third pick.

He was back on the field this week, hopefully with a better attitude, taking reps with the Tabbies' first-team offence as the club prepares for the Edmonton Eskimos.

Buckin' Tough: If Winnipeg Blue Bombers fans are convinced the team is going nowhere without Buck Pierce at QB this season, they must have been terrified to see their star get thumped in Week 1. Although Pierce bounced back on his feet, Hamilton linebacker Jamal Johnson hit him so hard it knocked the breath out every Manitoba resident.

Pierce proved he's a tough dude, but the Bombers need to evaluate their pass protection to keep him on his feet.

Esks' ace in the hole: The constant recycling of CFL coaches often comes back to bite teams. The Saskatchewan Roughriders are a case in point after the Eskimos exploited the Green Riders' defensive tendencies in Week 1.

Edmonton offensive co-ordinator Marcus Crandell quarterbacked the Riders and knows the patterns of Riders defensive mastermind Richie Hall, who is back in Regina after two years in Edmonton as head coach. Esks QB Ricky Ray shredded the Riders D in Week 1, going 21-for-27 for 294 yards and three TDs.

Kicking crisis in Calgary: Lose an import receiver or running back to injury and you can have a plane full of recruits in town overnight. Lose a Canadian kicker, as the Calgary Stampeders did last week against Toronto, and you really understand pain.

The Stamps are without injured placekicker Rob Maver (leg) this week and have added Rene Paredes, a player so obscure he isn't even a household name in his own house.

Paredes spent four seasons at Concordia, where he converted 54 of 79 field-goal attempts. The 26-year-old non-import emerged from a pack of kickers the Stamps air-lifted into town for a tryout, including CFL veterans Jamie Boreham and Matt Kellett.

Pirates no longer taking on water

A year after enduring 105 losses, new manager has turned perennial losers into National League feel-good story

JARED WICKERHAM/GETTY IMAGES

▶ Pittsburgh's Andrew McCutchen is congratulated by manager Clint Hurdle earlier this season.

One by one, a seemingly endless train of reporters filed into first-year Pirates manager Clint Hurdle's office Wednesday.

Last season, the afternoon media session for a midweek game against a last-place opponent like Houston might have drawn a handful in this town where the Steelers rule and the Penguins are a marquee attraction.

But it seems like everybody wants to hear what Hurdle has to say these days.

An afterthought for virtually an entire generation, these pesky Pirates were only 1½ games behind the National League Central lead as play began Thursday.

"There's been a mindset change in this clubhouse and in this organization," second baseman Neil Walker said. "I think it's a lot of guys, but Clint Hurdle has come in here and instilled confidence in every single one of us."

In stark contrast to insipid predecessor John Russell, Hurdle is at his best with an audience. He cracks jokes, but he's also not afraid to provide a stern hand with his players.

Perhaps no one knows both ends of that this season better than centre-fielder Andrew McCutchen, the team's best position player.

"The players understand who they're playing for — the city of Pittsburgh ... People work hard for their money and they want an effort."
PIRATES MANAGER CLINT HURDLE

McCutchen was disciplined by Hurdle in May and left out of the lineup for not running out a ball in the dirt after he struck out.

But when McCutchen was a surprising omission for an all-star spot last weekend, Hurdle criticized those involved for the decision.

"That shows one way that he's supportive and he's behind us," McCutchen said. "It feels good to be able to hear what he had to say and to have that support by saying what he had to say and not really caring (about repercussions).

"That's the person he is."

Hurdle has recently spoken of the "joy" this season has brought him. The Texas Rangers' hitting coach last season — after being fired midway through his eighth season as manager of the Colorado Rockies in 2009 — Hurdle said after a recent victory, "I've had a lot of different teams, but this team is an absolute blast to manage." The Pirates hold the North American major sports record of consecutive losing seasons with 18. They are a win away from assuring their first winning record at the all-star break since 1992.

Has Gonzalez passed Bautista in MVP race?

Jose Bautista's final measure of respect may come down to the 2011 American League MVP race.

Right now, according to Sports Illustrated, the race belongs to Boston's Adrian Gonzalez, a turn in the magazine's ratings after Bautista dominated the race through May.

Bautista, though, leads Gonzalez in every major offensive category except two — average, by a small margin, and RBIs, by 15 — and those numbers, along with Bautista's versatility on defence, should place him above Gonzalez as not only the best player and hitter in the league, but one who is worth more wins.

The argument, though, about what constitutes an MVP is based on more than just statistics. A team's performance, for example, is also factored into the equation.

Indians win

A grand slam in the bottom of the ninth sent the Jays down to a 5-4 loss in Cleveland on Thursday.

Ever since Bautista's skyrocket to fame launched, back in September 2009, he has faced an uphill climb for attention from the sport's mainstream media, baseball's own marketing machine, the all-star voting process — until this year — and consideration for major awards.

Despite his 54 home runs in 2010, and his relative dominance of AL hitting stats so far in 2011, Bautista is still in the process of establishing himself as an elite player, a process that takes time and consistency.

This week, Bautista, even after setting an all-star fan voting record, placed second to Gonzalez in a ranking of AL MVP candidates, according to SI. Where in May, Bautista dominated those rankings, his homer drought in June (two in 22 games) and the Jays' fourth-place ranking in the tough AL East have dropped him below Gonzalez, according to the magazine.

Virtually every sport's MVP race almost always weighs a team's finish and performance as a valid consideration in the race results. And baseball, for all its advancements in statistical analysis, is still partly governed by traditional thinking.

‘Dogfight’ predicted

Blue Bombers look to end losing streak against Argonauts Friday night

Fred Reid and the Winnipeg Blue Bombers want to halt another dubious streak Friday night when they host the Toronto Argonauts.

Last week, the Bombers (1-0) rallied to beat the Hamilton Tiger-Cats 24-16 for their first road victory since October 2009. Winnipeg now faces a Toronto team that beat it in all three meetings last season plus this year’s pre-season game.

But Reid said getting the win won’t come easily.

“A dogfight,” Reid said Thursday when asked what type of game he expected. “They had our number last year.

“We’re just going to come out and play our game. If we do that and hit on all cylinders, we believe we can come out of this game successful.”

Toronto (1-0) is also coming off a notable road victory.

The Argos beat the Calgary Stampeders 23-21 on Noel Prefontaine’s late 43-yard field goal for their first win at McMahon Stadium since July 2005. Tailback Cory Boyd said while some people may have been surprised by the victory, he and his teammates weren’t.

“We knew what we had in that locker-room,” he said. “We stepped into camp the first day and knew we had something special.”

Boyd and Reid are expected to both play key roles in Friday’s game. Reid was the CFL’s rushing leader last season with 1,396 yards, 37 more than runner-up Boyd.

But that’s of no importance to Boyd, who when asked what his goal was for this season simply replied, “Grey Cup.”

Ditto about winning the rushing title.

“Grey Cup,” he answered.

Veteran Winnipeg slotback Terrence Edwards has been studying Toronto’s defence and knows the Argos present a tough challenge for Winnipeg’s offence.

“Their defence is the top of the league, in my opinion,” Edwards said.

Toronto defensive tackle Kevin Huntley said it’s early to begin rating the unit but added his teammates don’t mind trying to live up to such expectations.

“When people decide they want to put the crown on you, you’ve got to perform,” Huntley said.

“That also goes back to being prepared.

“Being a dominant defence is more or less being prepared, not necessarily about physical skills.”

Coming to this country and starting from 0 was difficult. Also because of a envious brother that stayed in the Philippines and paid to have black magic done to ruin me , I was having bad luck with money and love. Thanks to the Shaman I found out the sad truth, may god forgive my brother and give long life to the Shaman. Thanks shaman.

Send a KISS

You can now post your kiss, and read even more kisses, online at metronews.ca/kiss.

Dear FP, I am truly sorry for everything and I hope you accept my sincerest apologies. It was the best 2 years of my life with you. I hope that at some point we can reconnect. Loving you always CRAVING ANNE

To my SUNSHINE Missing you, my timmies just don't taste as good without my sugar, don't stay away so long. Giggle YOUR ANGEL

O My Gorgeous Golden Prince, O my adorable thanks for tight hug and the kiss and how u put me to sleep 2night, as usual u were by my side. me up again looking for u... not for the 1st time ...come back i need your strong arms again :) love u. never leave my side... :)) 12:40. NEED ANOTHER HUG

Today's horoscope

For today's crossword answers and for expanded horoscopes, go to metronews.ca

♈ Aries March 21-April 20 You could get a bit touchy today, especially if you suspect someone is aiming to usurp your position.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21 This is a great day for networking, for making connections that will be good for you in the future.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21 You must earn more or spend less — or maybe you'll have to do both.

♋ Cancer June 22-July 22 You may feel as if you don't have a care in the world but today's cosmic influences may bring you down a bit.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug.23 A lot is going on right now and no matter how many distractions there are, you cannot afford to ignore it.

♍ Virgo Aug. 24- Sept. 22 This is the ideal time to look seriously at what you expect from life.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 You will get the chance to impress powerful people. Seize it with both hands.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 There will be an opportunity to settle an old score today but you can and you must pass up the chance. Try using forgiveness instead.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21 You seem to be unusually suspicious of late. Seriously, no one wants to hurt you.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 A feud simmering for some time will come to a boil rather quickly.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 Anything that is petty will not only distract you but annoy you, too. Steer clear of trivial people.

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20. Try to tone down your act a bit over the next 24 hours — but only a bit.
